Update Your Profile Information

How-To: Update your Claimant Portal profile information with Idaho Department of Labor.

About Your Profile Information

The first time you log in to access your Claimant Portal account, you must provide some details about yourself to Idaho Department of Labor.

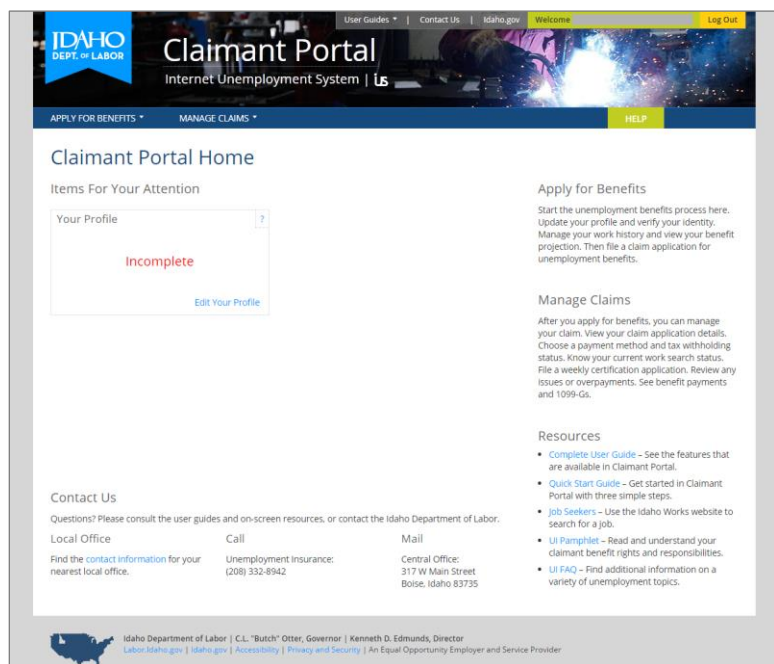

Every other time you log in to access your Claimant Portal account, it is important for you to update your personal, contact, mailing, and demographic information if it changes.

Idaho Department of Labor mails letters that contain time-sensitive details about your benefits, so keep this information current to ensure you receive all communications about your unemployment benefits account.

Even after you stop claiming unemployment benefits, you must continue to keep your mailing address updated to ensure that you receive all communications from Idaho Department of Labor.

Additionally, if your mailing address changes, you must update that information with the Idaho Transportation Department, Division of Motor Vehicles as well as with the Idaho Department of Labor.

Log in to Claimant Portal and access your Claimant Portal Home screen.

→ If this is the first time you have accessed Claimant Portal, the only action available is to update Your Profile.

The Your Profile flip card displays a status of Incomplete, as seen in the picture above. You must complete your profile to access other areas of Claimant Portal.

Click the Edit Your Profile hyperlink to access the Your Profile screen.

It is important that all information you provide during data entry is accurate and true.

Type all required and pertinent information in to your profile including your Personal Information, Address Information, Contact Information, and Demographic Information.

- * Note: Certain data entry fields only allow entry of specific character types. You will be prevented from entering incorrect characters in fields such as Date of Birth, Social Security Number, Driver's License, and Address.

Click the Submit button to save your profile information to Claimant Portal and run the identity verification check.

About Identity Verification

The profile information you provide will be verified with the data that is on file for you at Idaho Transportation Department, Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV). Once your identity is verified, you will be granted access to additional areas of Claimant Portal, including your known Idaho wages on the Benefit Projection and Work History screens.

The verification with DMV happens automatically, and within moments.

- If your identity cannot be verified, you must review your profile for typos, make any necessary corrections and re-submit your information in Claimant Portal. If your identity still cannot be verified, please contact the DMV to confirm the information they have on record is correct. If the DMV has incorrect information on file for you, you must correct it with the DMV first. Once fixed, return to the Claimant Portal to resubmit your profile and initiate the identity verification process again.
- If you do not have an Idaho driver's license, you will not be able to view known Idaho wages on the work history and benefit projection screens in Claimant Portal.
- If at a future time you do have an Idaho driver's license, you will need to update your profile with the Idaho driver's license number, resubmit your profile, and your identity will be checked again.

Note: You can file an unemployment benefits claim or file a weekly certification for a benefit payment with an unverified identity. However, an identity verification issue on your account will prevent benefit payments.

If you have questions about identity verification, you may contact a Claim Specialist with Idaho Department of Labor at (208) 332-8942.

Once your identity has been verified, you will be granted access to more screens in Claimant Portal including your Benefit Projection and your Work History.

View Your Unemployment Benefit Projection

How-To: View your estimated Unemployment Insurance Benefit Projection before you file a claim.

About Your Benefit Projection

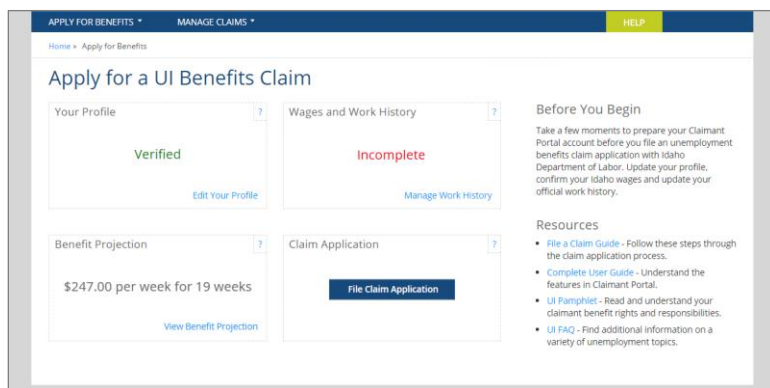

The UI Benefit Projection screen provides an estimate of the dollar amount of benefits for which you could be eligible if you file an unemployment benefits claim application. The benefit projection includes only wages reported to the department by Idaho employers during a specified timeframe known as a base period. The base period is one year and consists of four completed calendar quarters. The projection does not include wages paid from any other type of employer such as a military branch, federal government agency, or an employer in a state other than Idaho.

Because this monetary projection uses wages that have been reported by Idaho employers who you worked for, you are given access to this screen after Idaho Department of Labor has verified your identity and found your Idaho wages.

Log in to Claimant Portal. Hover over the Apply for Benefits menu option.

Click the Apply for Benefits menu option to access the Apply for a UI Benefits Claim landing page.

The Benefit Projection flip card displays a high-level view of your benefit projection. The Quick Tip provides a little more detail about your benefit projection.

Click the View Benefit Projection hyperlink to access the UI Benefit Projection screen.

Click the Print Page menu option to print your UI Benefit Projection screen. Your benefit projection can be used as proof of what unemployment benefit amount you could be eligible for when requested by other entities.

Manage Your Work History

How To: Confirm your wages paid to you from Idaho employers and manage your official work history.

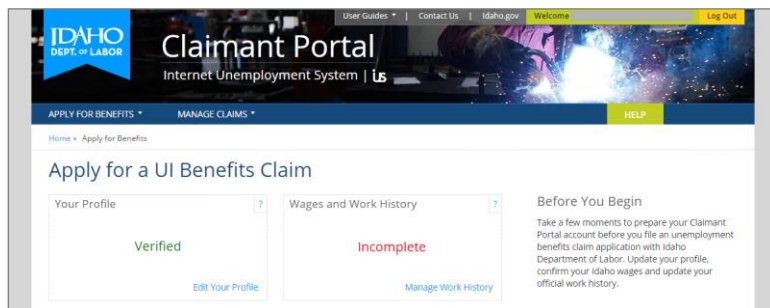

About Your Work History

It is important for you to provide your work history for the most recent two calendar years to Idaho Department of Labor before you file an unemployment insurance benefits claim application. This will ensure that all wages you were paid are accounted for in your monetary determination, and that you receive the correct total benefit amount and weekly benefit amount. Your wage details should include any Idaho or out-of-state employer, military branch, federal government agency, and self-employment work that you performed in the past two years.

Once you have filed your claim application, if you have some additional income, you will need to report it on your weekly certification application as it occurs. Updates made to the work history screen are taken into account when an unemployment claim is filed initially.

Log in to Claimant Portal.

Hover over and click the Apply for Benefits menu option to access the Apply for a UI Benefits Claim landing page.

Your Wages and Work History flip card status will be displayed as either Incomplete or Complete.

- Incomplete indicates that you have not confirmed all Idaho wages that are on file with Idaho Department of Labor. It also indicates that there could be missing work history entries from an Idaho or out-of-state employer, military branch, federal government agency, or self-employment work.
- Complete indicates that you have confirmed all Idaho wages that are on file with Idaho Department of Labor. However, there could still be an Idaho or out-of-state employer, military branch, federal government agency, or self-employment work that has not yet been reported on your account. So, before you file a claim for unemployment benefits, please double-check your work history, even if it shows a status of complete.

On the Wages and Work History flip card, click the Manage Work History link to access your Work History screen.

The Work History screen is where you can confirm the wages Idaho Department of Labor has on record from each Idaho employer who has reported paying you for work you performed.

Idaho Wages
Employer Name	Work History	JUL-SEP 2014	OCT-DEC 2014	JAN-MAR 2015	APR-JUN 2015	Total
	Add	$2,125.77	$877.32	$1,377.44	$0	$4,380.53
	Add	$0	$0	$5,852.50	$7,233.75	$13,086.25
Total		$2,125.77	$877.32	$7,229.94	$7,233.75	$17,466.78

Each employer listed in the Idaho Wages table is an employer who has reported paying you during the quarters that are displayed. You must confirm whether you worked for each employer that is listed under Idaho Wages.

To take action for each employer, you must either:

- Confirm your employment by adding the employer to your Official Work History, or
- Request an investigation into the Idaho Wages for that employer, but only if you truly did not work for the employer.

Each employer may be known multiple names. Oftentimes, the public-facing name is different from the company's business name. Pay close attention to this. Check your pay stubs for multiple names to identify whether the name of the employer that is listed on your Idaho Wages table is the employer who paid you.

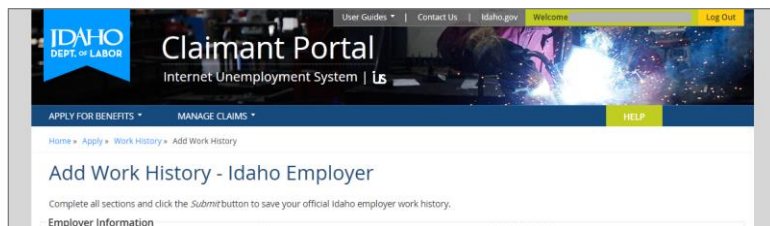

Add Idaho Wages to Your Official Work History

How To: Take an Idaho employer that is listed on your Idaho Wages and add it to your Official Work History for use in a determination of monetary eligibility on an unemployment insurance benefits claim.

Begin on the Work History screen.

Idaho Wages
Employer Name	Work History	JUL-SEP 2014	OCT-DEC 2014	JAN-MAR 2015	APR-JUN 2015	Total
	Add	$2,125.77	$877.32	$1,377.44	$0	$4,380.53

Total		$2,125.77	$877.32	$7,229.94	$7,233.75	$17,466.78

Click the Add hyperlink located in the Work History column to access the Add Work History – Idaho Employer screen.

Click the Job Classification icon to access the Job Classification picker: a popup.

The Job Classification picker will take you through a series of dropdown options that range from a broad industry to a specific job description.

Once you have identified your Industry, Category, Subcategory, and Type, a Job Description is displayed.

Click the Select Job Classification button to save your selections and return to the Add Work History screen. Your Job Description should now be displayed.

Under the Employment Details section, there are a number of other data entry fields that you must fill out.

- Start Date is the day you first began to work for this employer, or the date you returned to work for this employer.
- End Date is the last day you physically worked for this employer.

- Staffing Agency is where you should indicate whether you worked through a staffing agency or temporary employment agency who hired you for a specific job assignment.
 - If this employer is a staffing or temporary employment agency, you must indicate whether you have contacted this employer to determine if other suitable work is available for you.
- Return To Work is where you should indicate whether the employer has given you a date on which you will return to full-time work at this job.
 - If you will return to work with this employer, you must provide the date on which you will return to full-time work at this job.

Continue to select your answers, enter dates and type details into each data entry field.

Under the Separation Reason section, choose a reason that best describes your separation from this employer.

Some separation reasons require you to provide additional information about your separation from this employer. The details you provide will be reviewed by the Idaho Department of Labor and will be a part of the decision-making process to determine your personal eligibility on this unemployment benefits claim.

Submit

Click the Submit button to save the details you entered and add this job to your official work history. Once the Work History screen refreshes, the Idaho Wages table shows a Completed status for this employer and the Official Work History table displays the job.

The employment listed in the Official Work History table is the record that is on file with Idaho Department of Labor. Ensure it is complete so that your monetary determination is accurate.

Repeat this how-to process for all Idaho employers listed on the Idaho Wages table. Once all Idaho employers listed in the Idaho Wages table have been confirmed, you are ready to follow the Add a Missing Employer to Your Official Work History how-to process.

Request an Idaho Wages Investigation

How To: Request an investigation into Idaho wages that are listed for an employer with whom you did not work. An employer with whom you did not work should not be listed in your Idaho Wages. An errant employer needs to be reviewed by Idaho Department of Labor. Call a Claim Specialist at (208) 332-8942 during regular business hours.

Add a Missing Employer to Your Official Work History

How To: Add a missing employer to your official work history for use on an unemployment benefits claim. This should include any missing out-of-state employer, federal government agency, military branch, or self-employment work from the past two calendar years. It should also include any missing Idaho employer from the past two calendar years who was not listed on your Idaho Wages table.

If an employer who paid you is not listed on your Idaho Wages and is not listed on your Official Work History, you need to add a new work history entry for that employer. Retrieve a pay stub you received from this employer to ensure the details you provide to Idaho Department of Labor are accurate.

Begin on the Work History screen.

Click the Add Work History button to access the Select an Employment Type popup.

Changes must be managed on this Work History screen. If you add or edit a work history entry, it will not impact an already active claim, nor a previously used claim.

Separation Reason

- ☐ Fired/Discharged - The employer decided to end the employment relationship, terminate, or dismiss you.
- ☐ Quit - You took the first step in leaving your job or ending the employment relationship. Examples could include retiring or discontinuing employment due to personal reasons, accepting other work, moving, caring for a family member, commuting distance to work, health, etc...
- ☐ Hours Reduced By Employer - The employer has reduced the available hours for you to work. You will continue to work, but for fewer hours than you were typically scheduled. This could be in the form of a furlough.
- ☐ Break at an Educational Institution - The educational institution is on a scheduled break, holiday recess, or the school term ended. You will return to work with a schooling institution when school resumes. (If you are unsure if you will return to work for an educational institution when school resumes choose another reason that reflects why you will not return).
- ☐ Leave of Absence - Your employer gave you permission to be absent from work for a specific amount of time. You still maintain the status of an employee and your employer guaranteed you could return to your previous position when your leave is over. (If your job is not guaranteed by the employer, choose another reason for separation).
- ☐ Still Working - Part Time, No Change - You continue to work less than full time. You were hired to work part-time hours and the employer has not reduced the number of hours you normally work.
- ☐ Still Working - Full Time - You are working full-time hours according to your industry (usually 40 hours per week).
- ☐ Strike/Lockout - You stopped working based on an endorsement by your union. Examples are a lockout, strike, or other organized labor dispute with your employer.
- ☐ Suspension - Your employer is not allowing you to work for a specific time period, with or without pay.
- ☐ Layoff Due to Lack of Work - Your employer has no work available for you. This could be in the form of a seasonal slowdown, furlough, reduction of force, business closure, downsizing, or when a temporary job ends.

Some separation reasons require entry of additional information about your separation from this employment. This information will be reviewed by Idaho Department of Labor staff and will assist in the personal eligibility determination that will be made once you file your unemployment benefits claim application.

Submit

When you have entered your work history information for this employer, click the Submit button to save it and return to the Work History screen. The employer should now be displayed on the Official Work History table.

Double-check that all employers—Idaho, out-of-state, military branch, federal government agency, and self-employment—are listed on your Official Work History table. If any are missing, repeat this how-to process.

Once all your employers from the past two years are in the Official Work History table, you may file a claim application.

Remove an Employer from Your Official Work History

How To: Remove an employer from your Official Work History table. Do this only if you truly did not work for the employer listed, or if information about the employer is incorrect and needs to be reconfirmed. Also, remove the employer only if you have not yet filed a new claim. If you attempt to remove an employer from your official work history after you have filed a claim, it will not be reflected on your current claim.

Begin on the Work History screen. Find the Official Work History table.

Help Prevent Unemployment Insurance Fraud

Fraud

Misrepresentation in connection with unemployment benefits has serious consequences. Under Idaho law, it is a felony to knowingly make a false statement or to willfully fail to disclose a material fact in order to obtain or increase unemployment benefits. Each false report may be charged as a separate felony, with a maximum penalty of five (5) years in prison and a fine of $50,000. Additional felony charges for perjury also could be filed against a person for each misrepresentation. Whether or not criminal charges are filed, you may be required to repay Idaho Department of Labor the total amount of unemployment insurance benefits received, accrued interest, and civil penalties of up to 100% of any overpayment of benefits. A misrepresentation also disqualifies a person from receiving additional unemployment insurance benefits for a minimum of one (1) year and until all overpaid benefits, interest and penalties are repaid. Additionally, when misrepresentation occurs, the claimant's previous employers will be notified of the fraudulent behavior.

Idaho Department of Labor will verify the information provided in this claim application to assure its accuracy, and will collect overpayments by all means available under Idaho law, including, but not limited to, wage garnishments for both the claimant and spouse, bank account seizures, state and federal tax refund seizures, and liens filed on all real and personal property.

I HEREBY CERTIFY: (1) that I am the individual who is filing this application for unemployment insurance benefits; (2) that I have read all instructions in connection with this application and also the UI Pamphlet explaining unemployment benefits reporting requirements; and (3) that I understand all the consequences described above for misrepresentations made in connection with this application for unemployment benefits.

☐ I SWEAR AND AFFIRM UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY THAT ALL INFORMATION PROVIDED BY ME IN CONNECTION WITH THIS APPLICATION, INCLUDING MY CERTIFICATION ABOVE, IS TRUE, CORRECT, AND COMPLETE.

The Step 1 – Citizenship screen requires you to identify your citizenship status as United States citizen, authorized alien, or not authorized to work in the United States.

The screenshot shows the 'UI Claim Application' page for Step 1 - Citizenship. The page has a blue header with 'APPLY FOR BENEFITS' and 'MANAGE CLAIMS' links, and a 'HELP' button. A breadcrumb trail shows 'Home > Apply > Claim Application' and a progress bar with steps: Start, 1 Citizenship (active), 2 Other States, 3 Military, 4 Railroad, 5 Eligibility, 6 Work Search, 7 Work History, and Submit. This screenshot shows the 'Authorized Alien' section of the Step 1 - Citizenship screen. The 'Authorized Alien' radio button is selected. If you have military wages, they can contribute to your monetary eligibility and could increase the total amount of money you could be eligible for during your claim's benefit year.

→ If you select Yes, an additional question will be displayed related to your physical location.

If you have no military wages, there should be no military wages listed on the work history of your claim.

Total		$3,617.80	$5,471.06	$6,446.92	$1,929.00	$17,464.78

Each employer listed in the Wage Summary table should be an Idaho employer with whom you worked. The Work History column indicates each employer's status on your account.

- Completed is an employer for whom you have confirmed your Idaho wages. This employer is also listed on your official work history and will be included in the monetary determination for your unemployment claim application.
- Missing is an employer for whom you have not confirmed your Idaho wages.
 - If an employer has a Missing work history status, please click the Manage Work History button to return to the Work History screen and update your employment details. Finalize and confirm your work history, and then return to the claim application.

The quarters listed in the Wage Summary table are the calendar quarters that are included in the base period of your claim. The quarters do not reflect your entire work history for each employer because your employment could have spanned quarters prior to or after the quarters listed.

The Work History Summary is your official work history from the past two years that is on record with Idaho Department of Labor. It contains all the employers with whom you confirmed your employment. It is the basis for wage details that will be used to determine your monetary eligibility on this claim application.

Each employer listed on the Work History table is one of the following:

- Idaho employer you worked for, and for whom you already confirmed your employment dates and wage detail.
- Military branch you worked for, and for whom you already provided your employment details.
- Federal Government agency you worked for, and for whom you already provided your employment details.

- Self-Employment work that you performed for wages, and for which you already provided your employment details.

If every employer you worked for is listed in the Work History Summary, acknowledge that your work history—as it is displayed—will be used to determine your monetary eligibility on this claim. Then click the Next button to continue with your claim application and access the Submit screen.

If an employer you worked for is not listed in the Work History Summary, you should add the missing employer to your official work history before you continue with your claim application. This should include any missing Idaho, out-of-state, federal government, military employers, or self-employment work.

Manage Work History Click the Manage Work History button to temporarily access the Work History screen.

While on the Work History management screen, a notification header bar will be displayed to remind you to continue with your claim application once you have finished making updates to your work history.

Your Work Search Status indicates your work search requirements during a specific timeframe.

- Work Seeking requires you to:
 - Contact at least two employers per week and report them as work search contacts on your weekly certification application. You can use the Work Search Log to keep track of your employer contacts each week.
 - Register a Job Seeker Account on the Idaho Works website within two weeks of filing your claim application.
- Employer Attached requires you to maintain regular contact with the employer to whom you are attached so that if work becomes available you are ready to work. You must notify the Idaho Department of Labor immediately if you no longer have the opportunity to return to work with the employer.
- Union Attached requires you to remain in good standing with the building or trades union who regularly refers you to full-time work. Notify Idaho Department of Labor immediately if you cease to obtain work through a labor union.
